Players Returning

The Mountaineers enter the 2018 season coming off a 9-4 season in which they won their third bowl game in a row. The Appalachian State offense loses starting quarterback Taylor Lamb to graduation. Lamb produced 2,737 yards on 206 completions and threw for 27 touchdowns in 2017. Zac Thomas looks to be second in command for the Mountaineers heading into the 2018 season, after appearing in four games but attempting just 10 passes. Jalin Moore returns to Boone for his senior season, recording 183 touches last season. His 1,076 yards and 12 touchdowns led the team. On the defensive side of the ball, the Mountaineers graduated two of their top four tacklers. Anthony Flory and Tae Hayes both return for their senior season, after recording 87 and 53 total tackles. Flory added one sack, one interception, three pass breakups, and five quarterback hurries to his stat line for the season. Hayes added four interceptions and 12 pass breakups in the 2017 season. Clifton Duck is a force on the back end as the cornerback led the conference in interceptions.

Series History

The Eagles and Mountaineers have a long history in a series that dates back to 1932. App leads the series between the two 19-13-1 after winning the past three in the series.
